FINTECH

Apart from having recently rolled out an NPL pilot service with Sydema, we also have a blockchain solution where we automate trading operations and administrative tasks efficient (reducing human error), integrating them into self-executing smart contracts.

OUR APPROACH

WHY WE'RE SPECIAL

INTEGRATION

We have a unique ability to integrate blockchain technology with legacy systems.

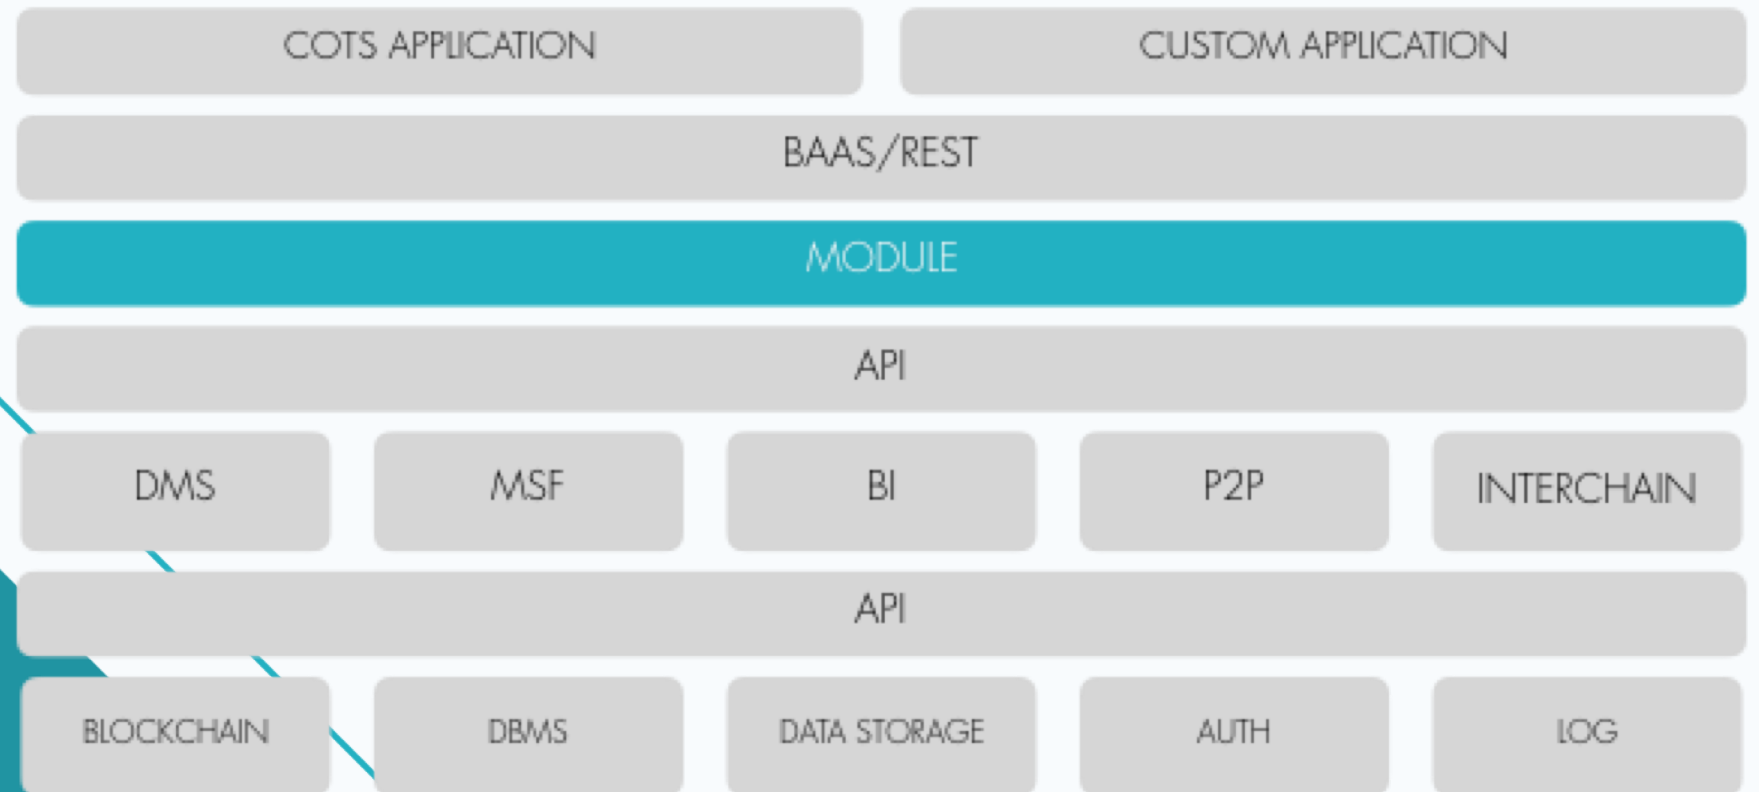

VERSATILITY

Our agnostic solutions adapt easily and are impartial to the choice of blockchain technology.

AGILITY

Basing our tech selection on our customers' needs, Mangrovia develops modular solutions for their specific applications, bringing a resilience and versatility often not offered by software companies.

More organizations are exploring the potential of blockchain to increase efficiency or disruption in their industry. To respond at speed, so procurement and vendor management leaders must evaluate blockchain consultancy providers based on the fit to their organizations' skill sets.

Key Findings

- Blockchain consultancy services are in high demand by organizations in every industry across the entire adoption life cycle. In the last year, the demand has shifted from disruptive use cases to a focus on solving immediate business problems. However, 10% of blockchain engagements have yet to go live, so production services remain rare.
- The pool of experienced blockchain service providers is growing rapidly, with the market expected to reach $1.5 billion by 2023.
